

BALTIMORE SCHOOL for the ARTS

ABOUT BALTIMORE SCHOOL FOR THE ARTS

Founded in 1979, this nationally-recognized public high school provides talented students with pre-professional training in a specific arts discipline (dance, music, theatre or visual arts) combined with a college preparatory academic education. An integral part of BSA's mission has always been to create opportunities for disadvantaged students. The high school serves about 385 students (approximately a quarter are eligible for free and reduced lunches). 75% of the school's population comes from Baltimore City.

The school has a unique admissions process designed to identify students with the potential for a career in the arts solely through an arts audition—no academic criteria are used. Moreover, students are considered carefully for what they've done with the opportunities they've been given. More than a 1,000 kids audition each year for about 100 spots. The student body is diverse racially, socio-economically and experientially.

Although academics are not considered at the auditions, once students are admitted, they must all pursue a rigorous academic curriculum—half the day is spent in academics and half in the arts. Students who need it receive free tutoring and test preparation so that they can meet academic benchmarks as well as artistic ones. BSA student test scores are consistently among the highest in the city and state.

A central feature of BSA is its faculty of professional artists who mentor students throughout the school day. These artists model the discipline and process required to solve problems in creative ways. They promote the collaborative work that is essential in the arts and in the workforce.

Innovative partnerships with Baltimore's premier cultural institutions, opportunities for students to perform on the city's main stages, and master classes/residencies with luminaries in the arts, drawn by the school's stellar reputation, further deepen and broaden the professional arts training for students.

Graduation and college placement rates are near 100% each year with students regularly admitted to some of the most highly regarded higher education institutions in the country. In a recent survey, 90% of BSA graduates reported completing college within 6 years, well above the national average.

BSA On Stage

As part of every student's pre-professional training at BSA, there are opportunities to perform and exhibit. Each year the community is encouraged and invited to support our talented young artists at a range of productions at the school, and across Baltimore. Stay tuned to BSA's calendar for information about upcoming events.

Twigs

Reaching Baltimore's Younger Children

A further mission of BSA is to reach children with opportunities in the arts that they might not otherwise be able to access, both to enrich and to provide critical early training. Each year, through TWIGS, its free after-school and Saturday program, BSA offers more than 700 Baltimore City elementary and middle school children training in dance, music, theatre and visual arts. For many of these students, this early exposure will lead to a successful audition and admission to BSA's high school program—about half of the TWIGS 8th graders who audition are admitted each year. The program is a vital feeder for BSA.

Additionally, thousands of Baltimore City children attend free performances at BSA and/or educational programs featuring BSA's student artists in the community.
